RF 502.112GUSN 12/29/04   - 5 -

In the Abstract:

      Please add the following abstract on a separate page following the claims:

5   --Abstract

The method is for obtaining location and time information about users. A digital content is first created which is stored in a user terminal. Location data is then retrieved from the user terminal. Either or both of the location data and the digital content are digitally signed in the user terminal. The signed content and location data is combined and the combination is time-stamped by a trusted third party.--

10

15